WOODLAWN FARMERS' CLUB.

[Reported for the Gazette.] The November meeting of the Woodlawn Farmers' Club met pursuant to adjournment at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Gibbs, near Mount Vernon, on the 11th and was called to or-der by the president, E E. Mason, about 4 p. m.

The secretary read the following communication: Vienna, Va., Nov. 8, 1899.

Mr. Chas M Pidgeon :

My Dear Sir-Please accept the hanks and appreciation of my family and myself for the highly appreciative resolutions adopted by the Woodlawn and zealous members.

Yours, very respectfully,
ALMA DELANO BINE.

The secretary also read a letter from ir George K. Holmes, of the Departation of tarmers, especially those en-aged in the dairy business.

At the suggestion of Mr. J. N. Gibbs,
E. E. Mason, A. W. Harrison and C.

Lukens were appointed a committee to wait on the Secretary of Agriculture and invite him to attend our next meeting. Also to confer with Mr. H. E. Alwood, chief of the dairy division of the Department of Agriculture, relative to attending some future meeting of the club and giving a talk on dairy topics. E E. Mason spoke of the growing dissatisfaction as to the tuberculine test, especially among the dairymen of

At the request of A. W. Harrison the secretary read from the Farm Review a synopsis of the address of ex Governor Harold, of Wisconsin, deliv-ered before the Farmers' National Congress, of which he is president, re-cently held in Fancul Hall, Boston, Mass.

The club then drifted into a general discussion of roads and the use of crude petroleum, and adjourned to meet at Engleside, the residence of Mr. and Mrs. C. Lukens, on December 19.

CHAS. M. PIDGDON, Sec'ty.

FRIENDS' QUARTERLY MEETING The quarterly meeting of Friends held at Woodlawn, Va., on the 19th and 20 h inst. was well attended.

Among the ministers present who addressed the meeting were Dr. O. E. Janney and Wm. W. Wood, of Baltimore, Md.; David W. Branson, of Hopewell, Va., and Milton Schooley and Obed J. Pearpoint, of Waterford, Va. Among others present from a distance were Isaac Bussell, of Newmarset, Md; Ann B. Branson, C E. Clevinger, Lewis Pidgeon and Daniel T. Wood and daughter, of Hopewell; A. B. Davis and wife, Joshua Thatcher, Joshua Sm.th and others from Goose Ureek, and Martha Sidwell and M. R. Williams, from Waterford, besides a good representation from Washington. A number of strangers from the neighborhood were very acceptably present. The topic for discussion in the firstday school session, "True Patriotism," was well handled by the several parties who were appointed to prepare papers on the subject.

The religious sessions were very ac ceptably addressed by the several mioisters, who exhorted the audience to a more faithful observance of the mandates of the indwelling spirit and set before them the great personal responsibility of each in performing his duties to God and man. In the business meeting the reports from the several monthly meetings nowed a good condition of the society, and some helpful messages were delivered by those who felt a concern.

SKIBO CASTLE.

During its somewhat chequered hisory, which probably extends over a period of 600 years, the Castle of Skibo has (says the "Northern Chronicle") undergone many structural changes, and has passed in and out of the hands of more proprietors than perhaps any other Highland property of equal antiquity. When Episcopalcy was a dominating religious element, Skibo was the residence of the Bishops of Sutherland and Caithness; for the ecclesias ics of the sixteenth century appreciated the "choice places of the earth" quite as much as the monks of old; and Skito undoubtedly comes under that description, more especially as regards scenery and climate. The same building, according to tradition, afforded a night's shelter to the Marquis of Montrose when, as a half starved captive from Assynt, he was taken south to be tried and afterward executed in Edinburgh. No doubt the old castle had many other interesting historial had many other interesting historial associations; but when the orginal fabric of a building disappears, as it has now done almost completely at Skibo, local interest in such matter does not long survive.

After Skibo was purchased in 1872 by Mr. Evan Charles Sutherland (at the price of £130,000), the Castle was so much entarged and altered that i has since been described as a modern buildly and expensively confirmed by additions and structural improvements that really the Castle's history must in future date from the beginning of the 20th century, and not from the 13th. Those fact liar with Skibo Castle, as it has been known to the present generation, will see what is practically a new building is to be raised on the old site. marked apparently by a heavy but judicious expenditure on the Castle, the grounds and the estate generally; and the result of the building and other operations will undoubtedly be to the state of a castle described and the state of a castle described as a state of a castle described.
